

Data Mining

Data mining is the process of discovering patterns from large datasets.

It involves techniques like clustering, classification, and association rule mining.

K-means is a popular clustering algorithm used in unsupervised learning.